

Outstanding ISE Student of the Year, 2018

Greg Artalona was selected as the 2018 Industrial and Systems Engineering Outstanding Student of the Year by the faculty of the ISE department. After being raised in Huntsville, Alabama, he has spent the past five years at Auburn, and will be graduating in the spring of 2018.

While a student at Auburn, Greg completed a four semesters Co-Op with Rheem manufacturing, as well as an internship with Practical Solutions Consulting and a Domtar paper mill. After graduation, he will be going to work for PepsiCo at their Perry, Georgia facility as a supply chain leader.

Outside of working and studying, Greg was the president and coach of the Auburn wrestling club, and was a national medalist in NCWA wrestling. He hopes to get involved with local wrestling clubs in his free time outside of work.