

Testimonials

"I truly enjoyed the class with Keith. He covered the information well, and the examples he used from his own diversified personal experiences helped to explain different scenarios. I also enjoyed how he pulled in each individual in the class. We were a Zoom class, but by him keeping everyone engaged, you felt like you got to know everyone and appreciate their input." Roxanne Warfle

With his wealth of knowledge and being a Subject Matter Expert, Dr. Keith Plemmons did an outstanding job of presenting the material in an engaging way and provided real life examples to help convey a deeper understanding of the material. I highly recommend this Auburn course and Dr. Plemmons as an instructor.

The course materials, instructor technical knowledge, practical experience, personality and willingness to accommodate all students were superb.

The instructor is very knowledgeable and the real world stories makes the course very interesting and provides structure to attach the new information.

Dr. Plemmons was an excellent teacher with the skills and experience to back up his teaching. During his lectures, he shared his experiences with the class pertaining to the specific material which helped the content become more relatable to our specific professional careers. Dr. Plemmons was also very interactive with the class which kept the attention of his students and helped to clarify and identify some of the course work.

My expectations were overly met. The in-depth knowledge and experience of the Instructor, coupled with the explanations and examples he provided in class whipped up interest and made it easy for me to follow the course. Instructor was able to engage students and encouraged their full participation in class. Instructor provided opportunity for students to interact with him for 30 minutes before and after each class - very fulfilling.

Keith did an excellent job in relating real world experience to the PMP prep material. He also randomly called on people to keep them engaged. I'm glad AU is finally offering this course. It's very beneficial in today's environment.

Prof. Plemmons is a very knowledgeable, professional, and friendly instructor. He made the difficult knowledge easier to understand with vivid examples. He would also patiently instruct the student towards the correct answers to the questions.
